Jio Seeks Spectrum Use by both Satcom Players & Telcos

Batting for dual use of Ku and Ka bands, co highlights decision by New Zealand govt allowing such usage

Kiran.Rathee@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Reliance Jio has sought flexible use of spectrum between satellite and terrestrial networks from the telecom regulator, particularly in the Ku and Ka bands, and highlighted a recent decision taken by New Zealand government allowing such dual use. In its letter to the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) on September 5, Jio stressed the suggestion for flexible use of spectrum is based upon the latest changes in technology and standards that allowed the creation of integrated and converged networks.

A copy of the letter was also marked to Apurva Chandra, who was having additional charge of Telecom Secretary. DoT Member Technology Gunjan Dave, Trai secretary V Raghunandan and DoT wireless advisor VJ Christopher. As per Trai's consultation paper on assignment of spectrum for space-based communication services, Ku band ranges from 10 GHz to 15 GHz, while Ka band ranges from 17 GHz to 31 GHz.

Jio said the New Zealand government has agreed to allocate 24.25-27.5 GHz primarily for mobile use with an option to include some satellite services in some areas. Bands in the 27.5-28.35 GHz range are to be shared for mobile and satellite services while 28.35-29.5 GHz to be allocated for satellite services with the option to include some mobile use. "The above decisions shows that New Zealand government has recognised the need for flexible use of spectrum in the wake of imminent technological convergence in telecommunication networks under integrated and converged satellite and terrestrial networks," Jio said in the letter to Trai chairman PD Vaghela. As per Trai, Ku band can be used for both fixed satellite services and mobile satellite services. The band is also commonly used for DTH television broadcasting and satellite internet services.

The Ka band is commonly used for high-speed broadband and fixed and mobile satellite services. In India, currently some quantum in the millimeter wave (mmWave) band, which is part of the Ka band, has been auctioned for 5G mobility use. Also, some airwaves in the Ku band are being used by telecom operators for backhaul purposes.

Jio wants flexible use for whatever quantum of bandwidth is reserved for satellite services in the Ka and Ku bands.

"We reiterate that the 3GPP specifications in its release-17 have already enabled the convergence of satellite and terrestrial networks. Therefore, several countries have been considering the assignment of spectrum for flexible use between terrestrial and satellite networks," Jio said. "As you are aware, spectrum is a finite and scarce resource and is irreplaceable for the provision of wireless broadband connectivity...therefore, the Authority should ensure the optimum and evolving technology centric assignment of spectrum," Jio added.

Satcom firms such as Bharti Group backed OneWeb and Amazon are pitching for administrative allocation of spectrum. They are pitted against telcos Reliance Jio and Vodafone Idea who want satcom spectrum to be allotted to the highest bidder in auctions, just like in the case of telcos.

Neeraj Mittal Takes Charge as DoT Sec y

Kiran.Rathee@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: Neeraj Mittal assumed charge as the new Department of Telecommunications (DoT) secretary on Wednesday. After taking the reins of the DoT, Mittal, a Tamil Nadu cadre 1992-batch IAS officer, met telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw as well as senior officials of the department.

The senior bureaucrat is taking charge of the DoT at a time when key issues pertaining to the sector need to be finalised.

For instance, he will be tasked to decide on the critical issue of spectrum, particularly satellite airwaves, E and V band spectrum as well as 6 GHz spectrum. The telecom and technology industries are at loggerheads over the allocation method. Apart from that, a decision needs to be taken on OTT regulation. Even though the issues are currently being debated by the Trai, a final decision has to be taken by the government. "We... are enthused with him taking charge of the dynamic telecom sector of India," said SP Kochhar, director general of the Cellular Operators Association of India (COAI).

Sonia says Oppn has No Idea About Session Agenda, Seeks Debate on Socio-economic Issues in Letter to PM

Our Political Bureau

New Delhi: Chairperson of the Congress Parliamentary Party Sonia Gandhi, on Wednesday wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, stating that neither have the Opposition leaders been consulted about convening a special session of Parliament nor have they been informed about its agenda. She also placed a set of nine issues, including price rise, farmers' problems, Adani issue and the China border matter that the Opposition wanted to raise and debate during the five-day sitting from September 18.

"I must point out that this special session has been convened without any consultation with other political parties. None of us have any idea of its agenda. All we have been communicated is that all five days have been allocated for government business," Gandhi wrote to the PM as part of the decision taken at the INDIA bloc leaders' meet on Tuesday.

Stressing on the Opposition parties' keenness to participate in the session "because it will give us an opportunity to raise matters of public concern and importance", Gandhi hoped that time would be allocated to discuss the nine issues that the Opposition wanted to raise. They include the economic situation and price rise, government's assurance to farmers, including on MSP, JPC probe into the Adani issue, discussion on the Manipur situation, communal incidents in Haryana, border issue with China, caste census, issues in Centre-State relations and the flood situation in some states. Despite this, the Opposition circles also recognise the fact that, as happened in the past special sessions of Parliament, this time too the government will bring its specific agenda and implement it whether the Opposition protests or not.

Meanwhile, the Congress has also advertised that not only will Rahul Gandhi be absent from the Congress programmes on Thursday to mark the 'first anniversary' of the launch of his Bharat Jodo Yatra, he would also keep away from Delhi during the G20 Summit over this weekend as he would be away "touring some European countries" during which he would travel to Brussels, Paris and the Netherlands. His programme includes interactions with some EU MPs, lawyers, NRIs, civil society and media persons.

UNION HOME SECY ASKED TO CONVENE MEETING WITH THREE-MEMBER ALL-WOMEN JUDICIAL COMMITTEE

Take Action Regardless of Source of Wrongdoing, says SC

Manipur govt directed to furnish details of arms recovered through all sources in the state

Our Political Bureau

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Wednesday said the Manipur government must take action regardless of the source of wrongdoing. The verbal observation was made during the resumed hearing of a clutch of petitions pertaining to violence in the state.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India (CJI) DY Chandrachud asked the Union home secretary to convene a meeting with the three-member all-women judicial committee headed by justice (retd) Gita Mittal. The panel was appointed by the court to look into compensation, rehabilitation and other humanitarian issues pertaining to the victims of violence.

The home secretary and judicial committee will ascertain the experts to be selected for executing the work of the judicial committee. Further, the bench said if grievances, regarding food supplies or medicines etc, continued, then they should be brought to the notice of the district administration, which would act on them immediately. The bench, however, clarified that nothing will preclude the victims or aggrieved persons from approaching the judicial committee. The bench also directed the Manipur government to furnish details of the arms recovered through all sources in the state.

In a related development, the bench granted interim protection from arrest to the president and fact-finding team members of Editors Guild of India in relation to a first information report lodged against them by the Manipur police. The bench ordered that no coercive steps should be taken against them till September 11.

Session Agenda at Appropriate Time as Per Established Practice, says Parl Affairs Minister

Our Political Bureau

New Delhi: Parliamentary affairs minister Pralhad Joshi on Wednesday alleged Congress leader Sonia Gandhi was trying to 'politicise' functioning of Parliament by 'creating unnecessary controversy' over the forthcoming special session.

Joshi's allegations came in a letter to Gandhi after she wrote to Prime Minister Narendra Modi saying that the agenda of the session was not known.

"Our government is always ready to discuss any issue. All issues which you mentioned were raised during the discussion on the no-confidence motion in the monsoon session, shortly before and the government responded to them," Joshi said in a letter to Gandhi. On the agenda of the special session, Joshi said that it would "be circulated at the appropriate time as per established practice. Irrespective of which party is in government, till date the agenda has never been circulated in advance at the time of convening the Parliament," Joshi said.

When special sessions of Parliament were held earlier — to commemorate the 40th and 50th anniversary of Independence, joint sitting of Houses to pass Pota, or recently for introducing GST — the respective governments had conveyed the agenda to Opposition leaders in advance, Joshi, however, alleged, "it is very unfortunate that you are trying to politicise the functioning of Parliament, our temple of democracy, and create unnecessary controversy."
